

FROM THE FRONT.

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Last night at about eight o'clock, according to the reports from passengers from the army, information came to Meade's headquarters that a corps of the Confederate army, supposed to be A. P. Hill's Corps, had moved from the front in the direction of Leesburg.

The Star says a heavy reconnoissance was immediately started in the direction of Aldie, the reconnoitring party moving light, without knapsacks.

There was more or less skirmishing between the pickets on either side, and several casualties are reported.

Yesterday there was skirmishing all along the line, and some firing also on the old Bull Run battle-field; but there was no general engagement.

The army, last night, was in line of battle. The whole baggage and transportation train was sent to the river, and the sutlers were ordered to Alexandria.

The skirmishing yesterday was principally for position.

The hundred and ninety-two prisoners of war captured on Wednesday last, near Bristoe Station, reached this city last night, and were committed to the Old Capitol.

The loss in the Second Corps at the battle of Bristoe's Station was about two hundred killed and wounded, the proportion of killed being small. The canaling on Thursday was caused by an attempt of the Confederates to cross Bull Run. At Union Mills, where the railroad crosses the stream, and at Mitchell's and Blackburn's Ford, the Confederates kept up a brisk artillery fire to cover their crossing. This fire did little damage, the Federal troops being under cover, and when the Confederates would mass bodies of infantry to attempt a crossing, artillery and infantry would prevent.

The day passed in skirmishing until sundown, when the firing ceased. Near dark General Buford's cavalry had a sharp encounter with the Confederates near Brentsville. News from the front, to day, indicates that all is quiet. The relative positions of both armies, it is believed, remains unchanged.

The National Intelligencer quotes the following from a recent speech delivered in Kansas, by Col. Jemison, and takes occasion to condemn it, in strong terms:—

"Do you suppose I will march into Missouri and ask them to take the oath? No, not by a d—d sight. If they have protection papers I will hang them, for real Union men need no written proof of their loyalty. In my next proclamation I will say to every physically able bodied man in the State of Missouri:—'You must fight for your homes or be put to death.' And the head of your columns will make the road so clear that no copperhead shall see the tail end of the command. I put the negro on top and the traitor underneath. Everything disloyal, from a Shanghai chicken up to a Durham cow, must be cleaned out. Adopt this policy, and there will be no more copperheads in Kansas. The Fifteenth will be filled three weeks from to-day. Its whole duty will be to kill rebels. [A voice: 'Have you got the horses?'] I never had any trouble in the old Seventh in getting all the horses I wanted. All the trouble I ever had was in preventing the boys (and particularly old Pardee over there) from leading off six or seven. But my men mustn't take anything that will not further the interests of their own regiment. Every man must, of course, be his own judge. This regiment will march with the revolver in one hand and the torch in the other. It will be organized on a military and patriotic, and not on a political base. We carry the flag, kill with the sabre, and hang with the gallows."

It has just been discovered in England that poor people not unfrequently throw their dead children into fields or by-ways in order to save the expense of employing an undertaker. The matter, naturally enough, is causing great indignation.

Latest News.

A semi-official dispatch from Washington, states that a body of the Confederates were seen on Thursday evening passing southward, opposite Blackburn's Ford, Bull Run. The Federal batteries opened fire upon them, and were replied to for about half an hour, when the Confederates disappeared. There was no other demonstration during the day. The Federal army is said to be now in a perfectly secure position, and prepared to repel any attack. All was quiet yesterday.

Dispatches from Stevenson, Alabama, on Thursday represent the state of affairs in Rosecrank's army as uninteresting. The reports state that Gen. Bragg was falling back for want of sustenance from the country which he occupied. Gen. Wheeler, it is said, was driven from Huntsville to the Tennessee river by a brigade of Federal cavalry, and crossed it at Kinsale Shoals, Ala.
